

The Solution

Here is the solution for the problems of the world:
We have to learn to play.

With words,
with ideas,
with people,
with life,
with our selves.

We shouldn't take seriously
those who take everything seriously,
mainly themselves.

Humankind, learn from my daughter,
she will be seven years old, the day after tomorrow,
she plays all the time and she is always happy.
All of you around the surface of this globe,
turn into seven-year old children!
This is the solution.
This is the salvation.

Yes, we must learn to play again and change the Earth into a gigantic playground instead of the battlefield that it was made into
by our common enemies, the grown-ups

By Robert Zend, published in The Three Roberts On Childhood
(St. Catharines, Moonstone Press, 1985) p. 50. Copyright © Janine Zend, 1985. All rights reserved. Reproduced under license.